PREFACE

This work was undertaken through a desire of some of the family to have a record preserved, as perfect as it can be obtained, of the emigration to, and the settlement of their ancestors in this country; and also of the situation and connection of their descendants at the present time. While there are some families throughout this country either bearing this same name or being descendants therefrom, and which are not included in this work, it must be understood that we have herein traced merely the descendants of Johan Bernhard Reber, who emigrated to this country in 1738. The records containing the long list of early emigrants give the names of four other persons by the name of Reber* having landed in this country, from whom doubtless spring a great many of these families.

For the omissions and errors that may be found in this work we hope to be excused, as the former were unavoidable through lack of information, and the latter must be expected considering the resources, which in many instances depended on memory only.

These records date from the first emigrant to this country by the name of Reber, so far as we know, and continues their genealogy to the present time, keeping principally to the name in question. Although the descendants out of the name are as much of the family and as nearly allied, yet to trace them all through the generations would involve too large a work for our present plan or for the satisfaction of our readers.

In arranging the heads of families, we have given the date of birth whenever known, and also the location. In most instances where no address is mentioned there has been no change of residence from that of the parents.

In presenting this genealogy the writer desires to acknowledge his obligations to Rev. Thomas H. Krick, Thomas Reber, Joel B. Bertolet, Mrs. Mary E. Runyon, David W. Pellman, James C. Reber, and the others who have aided by their researches, in furnishing materials for the work.

GENEALOGY OF THE REBER FAMILY

FIRST GENERATION

The idea of preparing a genealogy of the Reber family was probably suggested in finding the original passport of Johannes Reber still preserved, who was for a long time believed to be the first one of the large family of Rebers who emigrated to this country. This passport shows that he came from Langenselbold, Germany, which is situated in Kreiz Hanau, Regierungsbezirk Cassel, Königsreich, Prussia. While visiting in that part of the country, in 1882, Mr. James T. Reber, of Reading, Pa., found recorded in the old church book of the Evangelical Church (Rev. Frederick Hufnagel, Pastor), the names of four brothers, (1) Johan Bernhard Reber, (2) Hans Reber, (3) Johan Conrad Reber, and (4) Michael Reber. This church book dates back to the year 1563, so that it might be possible to obtain the ancestors of these four brothers since the 16th century. However, we have been satisfied to make a record only from the earliest emigrant to this country.

1. JOHAN BERNHARD REBER, the first of these brothers, is recorded in this same book as having one son, (5) Johannes Reber, who was married Feb. 8, 1736, to Johanna Magdalena, daughter of Conrad Hahn. From this union two sons were born; (6) Johannes (Dec. 16, 1736), and (7) Ludwig Friedrich August (Sept. 11, 1740). The Pennsylvania Archives, containing the names of 30,000 early emigrants, mention the arrival of John Bernhart Reber, from Rotterdam (Holland), on the "Snow Two Sisters," landing in Philadelphia, and qualifying Sept. 9, 1738, by swearing allegiance to Great Britain. We can learn of nothing pertaining to his whereabouts or life after his arrival in this country. The passport, however, of the son is still intact and a photograph of same is shown on accompanying page.

SECOND GENERATION

5. JOHANNES REBER, whose date of birth is unknown, was married Feb. 8, 1736, to Johanna Magdalena Hahn. They had two sons born in Germany, Johannes and Ludwig Friedrich August. According to his passport, he left his native country for America April 23, 1742, bringing his family with him, although it is known that the second son, Ludwig, died on board the ship. Being a member of William Penn's colony, his first object was to find a desirable location. Having selected some acres of land about 6 miles west of Reading, in Lower Heidelberg Township, at the big bend of the Tulpehocken, in a beautiful though desolate valley, known afterwards as the "Blue Marsh," he moved thither with his wife and son, built himself a home, which served the double purpose of shelter and a protection against the Indians and wild animals, his only neighbors. This quaint old building, with its large square fire-place in the centre, is still standing on the farm now owned by Mr. Henry Shofer, Reading, Pa. We find recorded in the Pennsylvania Archives that John Reber was naturalized May 13, 1768, and also that he, like many others of the early settlers, was concerned in numerous disputes regarding the rightful ownership of their land. During the time that he resided in this locality he was blessed with an increase to his family of three sons which were named Thomas, Valentine and Peter. Their five children were :
